Guided Eco-tours at it's best

Selecting a Tour Company in Africa

Choosing the correct tour operator.

Adventures in Africa:

Africa is a very tough and hardy country and sometimes the terrain and conditions are unforgiving. Local knowledge of all the areas is therefore extremely important - people can find themselves in difficult situations without the correct tour guides for assistance.

For a true African Safari it is important to choose the correct tour guiding company to be at your service, then this becomes one of the most enjoyable holidays with memories of a lifetime.

All the tour guides live in South Africa and have toured and travelled these Southern African countries extensively.

Our guides will brief all the guests daily, on exactly what to do or what to take with whenever necessary for our guests best enjoyment, fun and comfort.
